Judith is an experienced professional with a strategic and strengths-based mindset. Her expertise as an executive coach is well-known, and her portfolio includes leadership development and fostering diverse and inclusive workplaces. Over her three-decade career, she has been instrumental in changing cultures across multiple industries, guiding individuals and organizations toward excellence.

An engineer by training, Judith began her career in a series of technical roles at Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Mobil Oil Corporation, and Loudoun County Sanitation Authority before landing at Corning Incorporated, a world leader in glass manufacturing. Recognizing her innate leadership skills, Corning placed her in various mission-critical positions, ranging from engineering and product development to sales, quality management, project leadership, human resources, and training. Judith's relentless pursuit of excellence led her to develop workplace initiatives for Corning that are in place to this day.

In 2011, Judith founded Judith A. Rowe Consulting, a consulting and executive coaching firm built on a foundation of integrity, passion, equity, and inclusion; she quickly built an impressive clientele in for-profit and not-for-profit organizations. She was awarded the Corning Area Chamber of Commerce "Evolving Business of the Year Award" in 2022.

As a dedicated professional coach at Bravely and formerly an adjunct professor at Elmira College and facilitator/coach at Kindred Council, Judith is deeply committed to fostering individual growth and organizational success. Her role as a Bravely Coach allows her to provide on-demand coaching to a diverse array of organizations, engaging with a variety of employees at all levels in the organization.

Judith is an in-demand public speaker with a Master of Industrial and Labor Relations from Cornell University and dual degrees in Civil and Industrial Engineering from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. She is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Incorporated and has also served on various boards and committees, including the Southern Tier Central Regional Planning & Development Board, United Way of the Southern Tier, Guthrie Corning Hospital, The Cosmopolitan Women's Club, Corning Children's Center, and the Community Foundation of Elmira, Corning and the Southern Tier as past Chair of the Board, as well leading the Strategy Task Force and Scholarship Committees, leaving a lasting impact on the community's welfare. Judith was awarded the "2023 Community Change Agent" Award by the Finger Lakes Chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals and "2022 Evolving Business" by the Corning Area Chamber of Commerce, NY. She is an avid advocate for education, inclusion, equity, and social justice, embodying her personal and professional values.

In her leisure time, Judith enjoys spending time with her family, cooking, baking, and dabbling in fashion while working to complete an upcycle clothing project.
